Funding crisis looms at town arts centre

THE future of Haverhill's Arts Centre could hang in the balance if plans to replace St Edmundsbury Borough Council with a single unitary authority for rural Suffolk get the green light.

The Boundary Commission proposal would spell the end of the borough council, which is currently the centre's main funding body, with an annual grant of £243,185.

Haverhill Town Council will hold a public meeting at 7pm next Tuesday to consider its response to the commission's plans.

Suffolk County Council currently pays out a total of £461,350 in arts grants, with the largest single sum of £138,750 going to the Theatre

Royal in Bury St Edmunds. Nothing is allocated to Haverhill Arts Centre.

Councillors will be asked to consider forming a working group to address future funding issues for the arts centre if a unitary authority is established. Options which could be considered include an increase in current Council Tax bills or a reduction in activities at the centre.

A report set to be tabled at the meeting states that the centre's current five-year funding plan with the borough council runs out at the end of the 2011/2012 financial year. At the end of the agreement, the funding level would be £208,000, equivalent to £26.50 on a Band D Haverhill Council Tax bill.

Although a new authority would be likely to uphold existing agreements, what would happen beyond that remains uncertain.

The report said: "However, after the conclusion of that agreement, it must be considered unlikely to be renewed, either at that level, or at all, by a larger authority."

"Members may wish to consider the 'worst case' scenario that the funding will be withdrawn at that date and commence making according financial plans. These could include a phased increase in Council Tax ahead of 2012/13 to avoid the impact or a phased decrease in activities so that the centre operates without future subsidy."

"Sitting with fingers crossed is not an option."

Town mayor Les Ager said while the borough grant was decreasing each year, the town council relied on it to run the centre.

Trekkers on fundraising trail for hospice appeal

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO women and a dog raised £190 for our St Nicholas Hospice at Home appeal by completing a sponsored walk through the countryside.

Jenny Porteous, of Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, her friend Janet Etheridge and Lucy the dog, who belongs to their friend, Jo Farnell, completed their six-mile walk from Haverhill to Sturmer and back across country in June.

Jenny is a loyal fundraiser for the hospice, who has raised more than £2,000 over the past four years by selling cards and calendars she makes, as well as through other one-off events.

This year she has decided to dedicate her fundraising efforts to our Hospice at Home appeal to raise £40,000. The money will be used to fund hospice service for people in and around Haverhill, saving them the journey to Bury St Edmunds.

Jenny said: "We enjoyed the walk and we might have done a bit more than six miles as we went slightly off course on the way back.

"I enjoy doing the fundraising for the hospice and I wanted to support the appeal because I think it is important to people. The hospice is lovely, but I think a lot of people would rather stay in their own homes if they can get the support to do that."

Ian Norris, community fundraiser for the hospice, accepted the cheque for the walk from Jenny and said: "Jenny is one of those quiet people who doesn't make a fuss about it, then suddenly presents us with a cheque for £1,000.

"She is a star, because she just carries on doing her fundraising for us all the time."

play at a charity dance at Wickhambrook on Saturday, September 6.

The event has been organised by the Wickhambrook Charity Fundraisers - made up by Roz Clarry, Jan King, Lyn Newell and Marise Morling who have already raised thousands of pounds for St Nicholas Hospice and are currently supporting our Hospice at Home Appeal.

The Union Gap concert will be held at Wickhambrook Memorial

Social Club at 7.30pm, with a disco and a charity raffle. Tickets are £11 and can be booked by ringing (01440) 820757 or 820155.

■ Wickhambrook's Charity Fundraisers will also be holding a car boot sale on Sunday, with profits going to the appeal.

The sale will be held at the Wickhambrook Recreation Ground next to the Memorial Social Club, starting at 1pm, with car booters welcome to just turn up on the day.

How can you help?

WE CANNOT reach our target without your help - so the Weekly News wants to hear from anyone who is organising fund-raising discos, barbecues, dances or other events to boost the hospice appeal.

Tell us what you are planning and we will help publicise your event to make sure it is a success and raises as much money as possible.

If you already have an event organised, why not pledge all or part of the proceeds to the appeal and benefit from the extra publicity to help a really good cause.

A special bank account has been set up at Barclay's Bank. Cash or cheques can be paid in directly to the St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, sort code 201612, account number 80981842.

An on-line donations page has also been created at www.justgiving.com/haverhillweeklynews, which also gives details of how to donate by text, and you can donate by phone on (01284) 715582, at the hospice shop in High Street, Haverhill, or the Weekly News office in Queen Street, Haverhill.

Own a piece of Beatles history

A CHANCE to own a rare Beatles print or an England shirt signed by Frank Lampard is on offer with proceeds going to St Nicholas Hospice.

All Together Now is part of the Mad Day 68 series, arguably one of the most important photoshoots of the Fab Four's career. Tom has donated the print to boost local fundraising efforts. The print is number 28 of only 185 copies and comes with a certificate of authenticity. They usually sell for over £2,500 each. It will be auctioned as part of a charity golf tournament organised for September 2 at Ely Golf Club. It is currently on display at the Mason's Arms in Bury St Edmunds. Also on offer is a signed Frank Lampard shirt, generously donated to the hospice by Tesco, which can be won in a raffle at the Bury St Edmunds Tesco store this Saturday. Tickets cost just £2 a strip, and will be available from 9am. The winning ticket will be drawn at 5pm. Corporate fundraiser Abby Hunt, who will be hosting the raffle, said: "We're very grateful to Tesco for the help they've given us - it's a great prize to be able to offer. It's nice to know that one lucky person will be going home with more than just a few groceries!"

■ UP FOR GRABS . . . the print of the Fab Four, which will go under the hammer next month.

'Filthy' fun, and it's free!

A "FILTHY gorgeous" tribute band not to be missed will take to the stage on Haverhill's Market Square on Saturday for a free evening of entertainment.

As part of the Great Big Tribute Night, The Scizzor Sisterz will headline to pay homage to one of the hottest bands of recent years. The audience can expect an outrageous, colourful, energetic, foot-stomping show.

If legwarmers and dodgy perms are more your thing, you can relive the glory days of Prince, Frankie Goes to Hollywood, Duran Duran and Wham and all the classic anthems that made the decade with So 80s.

Collette's Entertainment School Cabaret Group will provide the interval entertainment and the event promises to be a great evening, starting at 8pm.

Haverhill Town Council brought back Eurovision Song contest winners of 37 years ago, Brotherhood of Man, who entertained a large crowd last Saturday.

A fond farewell for meal friends

LOCAL volunteers who have been serving up Meals on Wheels for almost 30 years have enjoyed a farewell get-together as some of them hang up their aprons for the last time.

The service will be re-organised in the Haverhill area from the end of September, with meals being brought from Bury St Edmunds, either heated before they leave or on the way.

A group of around 30 unpaid volunteers, ranging in ages from people in their 40s to their 80s deliver between 65 and 70 meals a day in the town.

The volunteers got together at the home of Angela Fox, who became local organiser 30 years ago, with other volunteers such as Josa Harrison, who have been involved even longer. Mrs Fox said: "It is very, very sad, we have all been friends for such a long time. We will probably still get together from time to time."

Meals on Meals were originally cooked at Haverhill

Town Hall by caterer Nigel Willis, then temporarily at the Scout and Guide headquarters while the hall was renovated. The meals were cooked on the premises, but now they are frozen and reheated.

Sonia Page, who has been local organiser for the past five years, said some volunteers would continue to deliver meals under the new system, but others would take well-earned retirement. She said: "We have often had people in their 80s who are older than the people they are delivering the meals to. They are a lovely group of people who have done a wonderful job for many years.

"They do much more than just deliver meals, they make sure that the person is alright, pick up newspapers they cannot reach or change a light bulb. Some of them bring shopping if people are on their own. "It is a real open door for people and I am sure that will continue. It is sad and I think their clients will really miss them."

Attacker may be in disguise, say police

A MAN man who committed a daylight sex attack on a 12-year-old girl may have changed his appearance to avoid capture, police believe.

Almost a month after the attack in Haverhill, police have again renewed their appeal for the public's help to catch him.

Detective Inspector Martin Wright, head of Suffolk police's major investigation team, said the man may have changed his hair style or colour, grown stubble and may be acting out of character.

The attacker grabbed two 12-year-old girls close to Railway Walk on Thursday, July 24, at around 1.50pm. One ran off to call for help and the other was pulled into bushes and seriously sexually assaulted.

The offender is described as a white male, in his 20s or 30s, 6ft tall and of slim to medium build. He had short dark hair and was wearing sunglasses, blue jeans, a white T-shirt and trainers.

Det Insp Wright said there had been a good response from members of the public, but he appealed for more people in the town to come forward.

He said: "We have had around 50 calls about this incident and we'd like to thank all those people for their help in taking this investigation forward. However, we still need to trace some other people the girls passed."

"The answer is out there, I think the man is most probably local and I think the key lies very much with Haverhill and the people of Haverhill.

"Someone I am sure must know something, but they may not realise they know it.

"We still want to talk to anyone who was on the Railway Walk that day and has not yet spoken to us. Even if they feel they did not see anything, they can help us to build up a sequence of events which could lead to the offender."

He added: "I am a father, I have got a daughter myself and this was a horrific attack on a young girl, which is why we are so determined to do our utmost to track this man down."

"We would ask parents to talk to their children and see if they were in the area. They can be interviewed with their parents by specially trained officers."

"Our investigation is still very active, there are officers in the town on most days. Haverhill is a town with great community spirit and we hope that will encourage anyone with suspicions or who knows someone who looks like the e-fit to come forward."

Police are particularly keen to talk to two children – a boy riding a red bike and a girl on a pink bike with stabilisers. They were with a woman with brown, straight shoulder length hair, of slim build and she was possibly on a bike as well.

They also want to speak to three teenage boys aged 14-15, casually dressed in jeans and trainers. One of the boys had spiky brown hair and was wearing a dark blue hooded top and trainers.

Anyone who was in the area should contact Suffolk police on (01473) 613500, the local Safer Neighbourhood Team officers or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Centre cash fears

It would have "to consider very carefully" the implications of a unitary authority, which were unclear at present.

David Hart, who directs productions for Centre Stage Company, said while the theatre company was based at the arts centre, it received no grant aid from the town council, only an agreed subsidised hire rate.

He said: "It is the responsibility of the town council to fund the arts centre and if it did close, we would have to move elsewhere. We would still continue, but it would affect us a lot and be a very sad day for the town. The arts centre is one of Haverhill's biggest selling points and the envy of numerous other towns."

Final few days of summer fun

SUMMER fun is almost over for some youngsters as a popular holiday play scheme comes to an end.

Activities have been running at Castle Manor

School in Haverhill for the past 18 years, to give children a chance to learn new things and enjoy their summer.

The organisation has been given the thumbs up by Ofsted and every year the event is open to children between the ages of four and 13 who live in the Haverhill area and are in full-time education.

Due to the large space Castle Manor has to offer each day, the event can hold up to 120 children, offering a wide range of activities.

Healthy eating has been a big part of the scheme, as the staff have encouraged the children to bring in healthy lunches and also gave them the chance to try different healthy foods and even have a go at cooking. Activities ranged from playing with soft toys to PlayStations and videos, and even Scottish dancing.

Children also got to make jewellery and posters, and meet dog handlers and Reptile Experience experts.

High hopes for plans to clear High Street traffic

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PARTIAL pedestrianisation of Haverhill's High Street could be on the way soon – after more than 20 years of debate – if remaining objections from traders can be overcome.

A plan to close off the top of the High Street to traffic between 10am and 4pm and allow only limited access for traders and deliveries from Swan Lane to Quakers Lane has been agreed with some of those who had initially objected to it.

The lower section of Quakers Lane would become one-way and a new exit road would be created through the town hall car park.

Kevin Shipp, the traffic management engineer for Suffolk County Council in charge of the scheme, was "optimistic" it would go ahead, but could not put a firm timescale on its progress. Consultation was continuing on the revised plans and businesses would be given as much time as they needed to consider them.

He said: "We have taken the view that a piece of cake is better than none at all.

"There will still be restricted access, with exemptions for people like estate agents who need to take out signs to properties throughout the day. The section at the top of Quakers Lane will still be two-way, so that the dray lorries can get in and out.

"We are still discussing the issue of blue badge-holders. But you will not get the hundreds of people that you get at the moment driving down the High Street.

"There will not be a barrier initially, but we will be looking at some kind of barrier in the future, with a key or card to give access to those with exemptions.

"It could be gates or some other kind of street furniture which allows pedestrians access, but not cars."

Mr Shipp said St Edmundsbury Borough Council was looking at proposals to enhance Queen Street and replace the existing barriers.

He said traders were being given the chance to respond to the scheme and give their views on it.

"I am optimistic that we will be able to overcome the remaining objections and once that has been achieved the [traffic] orders can be changed within a couple of months."

Dancing to a different beat . . .

COMBINING dance and drumming produced some exciting results for youngsters taking part in a three-day workshop in Haverhill. Dance East led the Drum 'n' dance course at Haverhill Arts Centre with dancer Holly Stubbings and drummer Mark Trewatha combining their talents to link the two skills. A total of 14 children aged 10 to 14 took part in the event, which was part of Haverhill Town Council's summer programme for children. Nick Keeble, leisure manager, said it was the first time that drumming had been included in a Dance East workshop. He said: "They tend to use drumming to bring the children together as a team and it was very successful.

"This was for the older children and we held one for the younger children the week before."

The final event of the summer programme will be Openwide Theatre Company's new adaptation of Beatrix Potter's The Town Mouse and the Country Mouse at the arts centre on Thursday, August 28, at 11am.

Donations swell funds for school

A PROJECT to build a new pre-school building has taken a step nearer reality, thanks to a £5,000 boost.

Thurlow, Bradley and District Pre-school currently operates from a portable building in the grounds of Thurlow Primary School and offers day care during school hours for children aged two to five years.

The grant from Havebury Housing Partnership's Community Investment Fund will go towards a £200,000 facility which would remain on the primary school site and offer additional services, including after-school and holiday care.

It is hoped the bulk of the project's funding will be obtained from an application to Suffolk County Council in September, with further cash collected from private fundraising and local sources.

So far cash has been donated from a variety of groups including: £7,500 from Mount Anvil plc; £2,500 pledged from Suffolk County councillor Karen Knight; £250 from Great Bradley Parish Council and £250 from Little Bradley Parish Council.

Jane Chance, member of Havebury's Community Investment Fund Group said: "We are really pleased to help with the provision of improved facilities for the children of Thurlow and the surrounding areas."

you always saw the best in everyone, because you brought out the best in everyone.
There was always something special about you

My Sister STEVIE-JAY

It's been two years since you were cruelly taken from us, and there is not a second goes by without me thinking of you, life is getting harder day by day, but I still don't feel that I have come to terms with the fact you have gone, I just feel like there is a piece of me which is missing, and the time I spent with you was not enough, you mean everything to me and more.

*I think about what you would say to me when I do something wrong and what we would talk about, how life has changed since you have been gone. It breaks my heart to think that I cannot speak to you anymore because I really need and want to,
I miss the little chats we had, it just doesn't feel the same*

*I truly am proud to be known as Stevie-Jay's little sister and always will be, I have found it hard without you and honestly know in my heart that I always will.
I know that I do not talk about it to anyone, I find it so hard, how can you explain to someone what it feels like to truly have your heart broken and have the person who you looked up to and love so much taken from you, I know in my heart that you are looking down on me and always will be.*

Love and miss you Stevie-Jay.
Love you millions,

A FAMILY cat suffered life-threatening injuries after it was shot by an air gun.

The black-and-white moggie called Tanya sustained the injuries to its ribcage after it was shot in the Mill Hill area of Haverhill on Friday, August 8 between 8pm and 10.30pm.

Vets were unable to operate on the injured cat, so the lead pellet has remained lodged in Tanya's body. It follows an alarming spate of air gun attacks on cats in Haverhill in recent months. Anyone with any information about this incident, should contact Pc Cheryl Claydon on (01284) 774100.

A-level students make the grade

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

STUDENTS are celebrating some good results at Haverhill where everyone has managed to get into the university they chose.

Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College had a 100 per cent pass rate for the first time ever, with 60 per cent of students moving on to university courses ranging from veterinary science to theology.

Only 17 students completed A-level studies at the school this year, reflecting the particularly small year group that entered the school in 2003. A record number of Year 11 students took part in the accelerated curriculum to complete AS courses in English Literature early and all achieved Grade B passes.

Wayne Lloyd, deputy head-teacher said: "We are very proud of the performance of our A-level students this year. We congratulate them all for their hard work and dedication over the last two years and wish them all well in their university life."

Luke Halpin, of Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, passed with a C, a D and an E and is going on to study theology at St Mary's in London. He said: "I had a bit of a turbulent year in my lessons with no teacher in religious studies all year, but I got into uni to do what I wanted to do and that is all that matters."

Laura Cushen, of Westward Deals, Kedington, got an A in English and two Ds and plans to work for a year before possibly going to university. She said: "I really enjoyed doing my A-levels, but I want to get some experience of work and some money before I do anything else. I would like to join the police or the ambulance service and do a work based degree."

Jamie Cartwright-Thomas got a C and two Ds and plans to study business at university. He said: "It was a hard three years. I don't think A-levels are easier, if anything they have got harder."

At Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College, head-teacher Howard Lay believes the school could move up from sixth to fifth out of 34 schools in Suffolk in value-added terms as a result of this year's results.

There was a 98 per cent pass rate, with 77 per cent A-C grades, and 24 per cent of students getting at least one A grade.

He said: "We think the results are even better than last year and they were our best ever. Quite a few students who joined us with lower grade GCSEs have done really well.

Every one of our students has got their place at university and we are really pleased with the results."

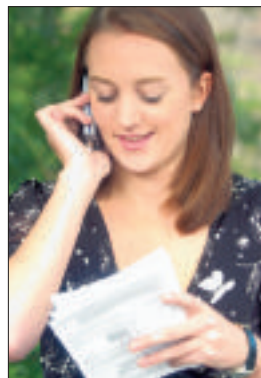

Charlotte Bunting was the school's highest achiever and is off to Oxford University after gaining four A grades and two merits, which are a higher level A-level.

James Miller, of Hawkedon, and Ben Hall, of Haverhill, both got three As, with James off to Exeter University to study French and Spanish and Ben to study for a masters science degree at Leicester University. Dan Baxter, of Wixoe, got two As and a B.

Ben said: "I don't think A-levels are easier, I think that students are better and the teaching is better, which is why the results are better."

Charlotte, of Wortham Place, Haverhill, said her two Merit exams were another three hours each on top of her four A-levels. She is going away on a family holiday before going to Oxford to read English.

She said: "I will have to stop saying 'hopefully' now when people ask if I am going to Oxford. It is something I have always wanted, Cambridge is too close to home. You don't really believe you will get in as it is so terrifying when you go for an interview, but I had never really considered how I would feel if I did not get in."

Double delight at twins' exam success

TWINS Melissa and Ben Powell are busy stacking the shelves at their local supermarket while celebrating being among the best of the bunch in their A-level results.

The 19-year-olds, pictured, both work at Sainsbury's store in Hanchett End, Haverhill, when they are not studying at Hills Road, Sixth Form College, in Cambridge. Last week Melissa discovered she had achieved A grade A-level passes in English literature, French and Italian, as well as A grades in two AS level exams. She also took a GCSE in Japanese and will get her result for that this week.

Ben passed A-level English literature and performing arts with A grades, psychology with a B and German with a C.

The pair, who live at Linton Road, Horseheath, have worked at the supermarket for the past year and are getting in as many hours as they can at present to earn some cash before they start university in September.

Melissa will study Italian and Scandinavian studies at University College London and Ben will go to Bristol University to study English literature.

Julie Collis, of Sainsbury's, said: "We are all very proud of them."

Family's anger over old tablets

BY Jo Deeks

Email:
editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AN ANGRY dad has slammed super-market giant Sainsbury's after it sold diarrhoea tablets for his son which were five months out of date.

Eight-year-old Finlay Lewis developed an upset stomach the day before a holiday to Tenerife with his mother Denise and older brother Hayden, 12, earlier this month.

She bought own brand tablets from the store in Haycocks Road, Haverhill, and gave them to her son.

After he had been sick, she checked the sell-by date on the box and was horrified to see it was March 2008.

Mr Lewis went back to the store to buy different tablets, only to discover that all the packets on the counter had the same expiry date.

He received a letter from Sainsbury's duty manager and a £20 voucher to make amends for the problem, but he wanted to warn others to check the dates on their medication.

■ SHOCK BUY... David Lewis with sons Finlay, front, and Hayden, and the out of date tablets.

Mr Lewis, of Recreation Road, Haverhill, said: "They sent me a sort of letter of apology, but it should never have happened in the first place.

"They should have proper procedures in place to prevent things like this. They have millions of pounds in turnover every day, but they cannot even stop this happening.

"When you buy medication from a shop you don't expect it to be out of date and certainly not by five months. The pharmacist said it would only reduce the effectiveness of the tablets if they were out of date, not actually cause you any harm, but that is not the point."

A Sainsbury's spokesman was not available for comment.

But the letter to Mr Lewis from the store's duty manager said: "I would like to apologise for the inconvenience caused with your diarrhoea tablets that you purchased.

"I was extremely disappointed to learn that there had been a mistake with the item you bought.

"I can assure you that we will take all possible steps to prevent this happening again."

Computer expert joins elite on TV

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

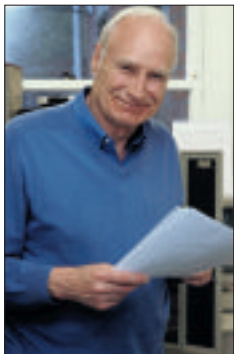

MILLIONS of television viewers will get a look at a new computer museum when it features prominently in a documentary to be screened on Friday.

The episode of Brits Who Made the Modern World, a series hosted by Peter Snow, will look at the untold stories of British scientific innovations, focusing on the development of Britain's £1.4 billion computer game industry.

In the early 1980s, two pioneering Cambridge undergraduates set out to achieve the seemingly impossible task of developing the world's first 3D computer game.

The result was Acorn-soft's Elite, the game was released for the BBC Micro in 1984 and sold more than 150,000 copies.

The Centre for Computing History in Haverhill was even asked to program some of the machines.

■ ALL WILL BE REVEALED ... below, Peter Snow during filming at Haverhill, and above, the groundbreaking game.

Luckily one of the directors, Jason Fitzpatrick, possessed the skills to create instructions in BASIC and an assembly code for the BBC Micro.

In fact, the team were so impressed with Jason's expertise and knowledge of the subject that he was interviewed by Peter Snow and will also appear in the programme.

Described by many as the seminal space trading game, Elite created a new genre in computer games. Featuring interstellar travel in a distant cluster of galaxies in the outer universe, Elite was arguably the first home computer game to use 3D vector graphics with hidden lines removed.

It came with a novella that set the scene and gave insight into the moral and legal codes within the game.

Brits Who Made the Modern World is due to be screened on Channel 5 at 7.30pm.

Serial burglar, 18, is spared custody

A TEENAGER who admitted making three night time raids on homes has escaped a "richly deserved" custodial term – in a bid to stop him offending again.

John Dean, 18, pleaded guilty to three burglaries in Haverhill while the occupiers were asleep.

Dean, of St James Court, Haverhill, appeared at Ipswich Crown Court to be sentenced by Recorder Martyn Levett, who said that while a custodial sentence was "richly deserved", putting Dean behind bars could prove counter productive.

However, he imposed a three-month night time curfew on Dean and ordered him to be electronically tagged.

He said: "It is so the people of Haverhill feel safe knowing that you will not be allowed out of your house."

Imprisonment was likely to lead to the loss of Dean's job and as a result faced with a shortage of money he was more likely to be tempted to return to crime, said Mr Levett.

Patricia Doggett, prosecuting, told the court Dean had been spotted acting suspiciously by police near Cangle Junction in the early hours of June 15.

When interviewed, he admitted involvement in burglaries at homes in Girton Court, Hales Barn Road and Dove House Road between April and June.

Miss Doggett said some of the items stolen by Dean, who claimed to have been working alone, were never recovered and £300 in cash, £1,700, a sat nav system, two mobile phones and a camera phone were still missing.

Russell Butcher, mitigating, said that Dean had had serious educational problems and had only managed to obtain his first job at Cineworld in Cambridge this year.

The court heard that Dean became involved in burglaries after associating with "poor influences", but since the night time curfew he had not been able to associate with that circle.

Mr Recorder Levett said the seriousness of the three offences meant that the custody threshold had been passed and sentenced him to nine months in a young offenders institution but suspended the term for 18 months.

He accepted that sending Dean into custody immediately could lead, on his release, to him becoming involved in further offending.

He will remain under probation service supervision for 18 months and must complete 120 hours of unpaid community work.

Charity ramble

WALKERS can stretch their legs with a "Ramble around the Thurlows" on Bank Holiday Monday and help raise money for the village churches at the same time. A sponsored walk is being held along the paths, lanes, fields and woods of the Thurlow Estate, with permission of the Vestey family, with proceeds in aid of Thurlow Churches. A minimum of £10 sponsorship is required, £5 for under 16s or OAPs and £2.50 per dog, all payable at the start. Route maps and guidance will be available from the Thurlow Sports Ground, with departures any time between 10am and 1pm. The distance is about six miles and includes rugged terrain. Dogs must be kept on leads. For more information, ring (01440) 783259.

Beware bag man

A FORMER staff member of the charity Clothes Aid has been seen collecting donation bags in Haverhill without the group's permission. The man was seen last Thursday at 1.30pm in Yeldham Place collecting from people's doorsteps using a white transit van with the vehicle registration number beginning with S909. Residents are asked not to hand over charity clothes to this man and to contact Suffolk Police on (01284) 774100 if they see him.

Walkers in step for charities

CHURCH members who put on their walking boots raised a bumper £1,677 for charity from their efforts. Pastor David Wiffen, of the Downs Baptist Chapel in Upper Downs Slade, Haverhill, organised the Countryside Circular Walk around Haverhill in May. He was joined by 70 participants, who had a choice of either a four, nine, 18 or 25-mile walk. The sponsorship money raised saw £377 given to Samaritan's Purse for their Water Aid project in Africa, £625 to Action Duchenne for Muscular Dystrophy Research and another £625 to a local family with a youngster suffering from the disease. Pastor Wiffen said: "I would like to thank those from the churches who helped in organising, marshalling and setting up water stops on the day." It is hoped walkers will again join in a Harvest Moon Walk to be held in September, when, under a full moon, and clear conditions, the same circular walk can be completed. A £25 entry donation will be required for the East Anglian Children's Hospices and anyone interested can call Pastor Wiffen on (01440) 702854.

Shops fail results day sales tests

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO children were sold vodka drinks, cider and beer in test purchases on the day A-level students received their results.

Trading Standards officers and local police carried out the operation last Thursday as part of the West Suffolk Local Strategic Partnership's (LSP) Put A Cork In It campaign. They found four out of 10 premises sold alcohol to underage customers.

The test was carried out on results day to see if local retailers would become complacent and assume that the children were over 18 and celebrating their exam results. Retailers have been told to always ask for a customer's identification if there is any doubt about their age.

Two children, aged 14 and 16, attempted to buy alcohol at two premises in several areas across Suffolk and walked away with a bottle of Bulmers cider, two bottles of Smirnoff Ice, a can of Guinness and a bottle of Old Speckled Hen.

John Griffiths, chairman of the West Suffolk LSP, said: "This is quite a mixture of alcohol and could make children very ill."

"We hope that this test will serve to prompt offences to tighten up their approach to underage alcohol sales – especially as the GCSE results come out this week."

"We are continuing our training through the Put A Cork In It campaign and will be focusing on raising awareness among more offences in September and October."

Of the 10 premises tested, the four that made underage alcohol sales were issued Fixed Penalty Notices and Trading Standards will now be making enquiries in relation to possible offences committed by the owners.

Music masters' showcase

PUPILS at Parkway Middle School in Haverhill showcased their talents in the school's end of term concert.

More than 50 pupils took part in the concert, performing in a range of ensembles and styles. The school orchestra performed well known pieces by The Beatles and Duffy while the singing club performed songs by Coldplay.

One of the highlights of the concert was a selection of solo performances. West Suffolk Young Musician of the Year finalist Tomos Morgan performed one of his competition pieces while Katy Shaw performed a solo on the clarinet. Mollie Betts, Gregory Bush, Alex Davison and Evie Richardson performed solo pieces across a wide range of genres.

The school's music leader, David Maguire, said: "The concert provided pupils with the opportunity to share the excellent work that they have been doing in school. We have a very talented group of musicians here at Parkway and they have done themselves, myself and the school very proud."

Council says no to new runway

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

BETTER public transport links are needed between Haverhill and Stansted Airport to cope with existing traffic, according to a Suffolk council.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council also says the case for a second runway at the Essex airport has not been proven, and members of its sustainable development panel have been asked to send officers to present their objections at a public inquiry into the plan.

The report to a meeting of the panel this week said while the airport has existing and potential economic benefits to the borough, especially Haverhill, the council remains unconvinced of the need for further expansion beyond one runway.

It also states that there remains a lack of commitment from the airport operator, BAA, to create "direct and attractive links" from St Edmundsbury by public transport, and that there should be a requirement to provide an improved service.

The report to councillors said 211 residents of St Edmundsbury make up 2.3 per cent of the airport's workforce, and this could double if expansion went ahead, as well as creating indirect jobs in the area. But there were no plans to enhance public transport and Haverhill Town Council has already objected to the second runway plans on those grounds.

Plans to increase flights from 241,000 to 495,000 a year would have a significant detrimental impact on the area, particularly places such as Clare which would be under the flight path of the new runway, the report said.

Call-out for fire crew

A FIRE crew was called into action to put out a field fire near a car parts factory.

However, the blaze at the back of Pace Products, in Holland Road, Haverhill, on Sunday, at 11.30pm, was quickly extinguished by Haverhill firefighters, who used a water backpack to spray the flames.

The great 70s revival

THE 1970s return to The Junction in Cambridge on Sunday with a feast of glam, punk and ska music. First up is Spanish punk rockers Harla Horror followed by local boys Smashed, who deliver up classic punk from back in the day. Big 10 are well known on the Cambridge scene for their high energy shows, playing all the ska favourites from Madness to The Specials and Toots and the Maytals. Finally, Glam 'R' Us will be donning the spangly boots and eyeliner for some glam rock crowdpleasers. Tickets are £10-£12. To book call (01223) 511511.

On song for tale of lovers

LOCAL company Figaro Opera continues its production of the classic opera Madam Butterfly next month. The production runs on most Saturdays from the beginning of September to October 4, and coincides with the 150th anniversary of Puccini's birth this year. The classic love story of the liaison between a US naval officer and a Japanese geisha is fully staged and will be sung in English. The venue is Sidney Sussex College in Cambridge and performances are at 8pm. Tickets are £10-£16. To book call (01223) 357851.

Young actors ready to mob the stage

YOUNG stage stars of the future will be taking a trip to Fat Sam's Grand Slam Speakeasy at the Corn Exchange in Cambridge next week.

The team who recently brought the successful local production of Oliver! to the Exchange stage are running a week-long series of workshops based around the classic mobster musical, Bugsy Malone. The week runs each day from next Monday to Friday, August 29, and youngsters will get expert guidance and support from a team of choreographers, musical directors and actors, and will get to perform songs and scenes from the show in front of friends and family. Workshops taking place will cover acting, singing, dance, masks, stage combat, lighting, make up and mime. The week is open to young people aged eight to 16 and costs £150. To book call (01223) 357851.

Eventful life is the key for fiery Henry

By Nik Shelton

HENRY Rollins, former frontman of US punk heroes Black Flag, brings his globetrotting spoken word show to The Junction in Cambridge next Wednesday for some more politically-conscious rants.

Despite being an outspoken opponent of the war in Iraq, he has been busy recently entertaining the troops at United Service Organisation (USO) shows in the Middle East, where he's a favourite among the American troops.

"I've been doing USO shows for several years now, all inside the Bush administration's reign," he says. "I've been to places like Iraq, Afghanistan, Qatar, Bahrain, South Korea, Honduras – pretty far and wide and I've seen quite a bit. I've met a lot of soldiers and heard a lot of stories."

"When I'm on those bases I'm never political because it has no real currency there. They watch the news as well, and more importantly, they are the news. You and I could talk chapter and verse about America's pre-existing agenda to go into Iraq but if you're a soldier in Iraq your day is going out there inside the wire for 12 hours and trying not to get blown up." But it's not just war zones that he travels to: he regularly visits different counties and cultures around the world which he says gives him a constant supply of material for his stage shows.

"Since I was last in the UK I've been in Pakistan, Laos, Cambodia, Vietnam, Northern Ireland, South Africa and I have a lot of stories to bring to the audience about what I saw."

"I was in Pakistan when Bhutto was assassinated and that was fairly fascinating. If you have an eventful life you can bring new material to the stage."

In interview he's very calm and collected, but up on stage – both when he was in punk bands and with his spoken words shows today – he has a reputation for fiery anger. But he's quick to point out that he's not suffering from a split personality.

"I'm always angry, I'm bristling with anger. But I'm angry at the right stuff. I'm angry at world famine, I'm angry at guys like George W Bush and Dick Cheney for starving and killing people all over the world, I'm not angry at the guy standing in front of me in line because he's moving too slowly. I don't get drunk and swing at some guy who looks at me wrong, I'm basically angry at The Man."

Tickets are £17.50-£19.50. To book call (01223) 511511.

Kings, queens . . . and kung fu panda?

OPENWIDE Theatre Company present The Town Mouse and the Country Mouse at the Haverhill Arts Centre next week.

This new adaptation of Beatrix Potter's tale shows us what happens when two very different worlds collide - from hedgerow, field and riverbank to busy city streets, the scent of fresh flowers to the taste of fast food, the hoot of an owl to the wail of a siren, the sturdiest of wellies to the trendiest of trainers. Will Toni and Charlie ever see eye-to-eye?

It's on stage from 11am on Thursday, August 28.

■ The much-awaited The Chronicles of Narnia: Prince Caspian (PG) is showing until Thursday, August 28 at various times. Can dashing Prince Caspian secure his rightful place on the throne and defeat the tyrannical king who has taken over Narnia? One year has passed since the events of The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe, and now the kings and queens of Narnia return to make a shocking discovery. Check cinema listings below, or the brochure for times and dates.

■ Kung Fu Panda (PG) is showing next Tuesday at 2.30pm,

Wednesday at 11am, Saturday, August 30, at 2.30pm and Monday, September 1, at 2.30pm.

Unexpectedly chosen to fulfil an ancient prophecy, Po finds his kung fu dreams come true when he joins the legendary Tigress, Crane, Mantis, Viper and Monkey to study the martial arts.

But the treacherous snow leopard Tai Lung is heading their way and it's up to Po to defend everyone from the oncoming threat.

MOTORING

Cherokee: Jeep makes family car move

AT first glance you probably won't notice too much that is different about the exterior of the all-new Jeep Cherokee.

But according to Jeep's marketing director: "Current Cherokee owners won't recognise the interior of the new car."

Cargo space in this latest version has been increased, storage space has been upped and loads of leather come as part of the standard price.

From the motoring correspondent's point of view the new car is a cinch – it comes with one engine, one trim level and one price. No complicated messing about here.

In many ways the Jeep and the Land Rover have something in common – both are recognised as

FIRST DRIVE

Jeep's
Cherokee

really serious off-roaders capable of frightening their owners to death by tackling off-road hazards of an extreme nature.

I drove the new Cherokee up a fast flowing trout river in Wales – as you do – and learned all about its clever hill descent system heading down the bank into the water and all about its command-trac four wheel drive system when climbing out several hundred yards down stream.

■ THE JEEP CHEROKEE... excellent off-road abilities and a price to beat rivals.

■ INTERIOR... superior equipment levels.

Inside the new Jeep is very plushy. Frankly, this is not the best time to sell large 4x4s to a worried public, but the Jeep does have the advantage of undercutting its Land Rover rivals to a considerable extent.

During the first half of this year the overall market was down by 1.6 per cent, but Chrysler says it is up by 2 per cent, much of this driven by 4x4 vehicles.

The leather interior and its quality feel is likely to be a big factor in keeping interest in these rather large vehicles alive.

The Cherokee is a mid-sized 4x4 which its makers consider to have the right look, the right size and the right price for UK customers.

It will be available with a diesel engine only, and a choice of manual or automatic gearbox. Only the automatic versions have the hill descent system.

In addition, there is one equipment level, but in view of the fact that it comes with just about everything including all speed traction control, electronic stability, full-time four wheel drive and an optional Skyslider full open roof, I don't think this is going to be too much of a hardship.

Basically...

A highly capable 4x4 with outstanding off-road performance. Would also be a very roomy and comfortable family car.

BMW launches sport packs

BMW has launched a number of sporting revisions for its 6 Series coupe including a more aggressive styling package.

Available throughout the 6 Series range on all cars bearing the M Sport editions, the Edition Sport features a number of modifications beneath the skin as well as the changed design.

A contoured bonnet, 19-inch alloy wheels, stiffened anti-roll bars and a sports exhaust are all included. The anti-roll bars improve the driving dynamics, stiffening up the ride and giving a better set-up for more enthusiastic driving, while the exhaust helps the engine's breathing – with the added bonus of an excellent exhaust note.

The announcement of the Edition Sport pack for the 6 Series comes at the same time as news of a competition package being launched on the M3 and M6 ranges. Changes on the M Sport 3 and 6 Series' involve another styling upgrade, a lowering of the ride height and reduced intervention of the electronic driving aids including the variable M differential to improve cornering ability.

Further releases from

BMW announce that all 3 and 6 Series cars will get the improved iDrive information and entertainment system as seen on the newer and more expensive cars, and the herald of the arrival of the X6's new flagship model, the BMW X6 xDrive50i.

The xDrive50i has a twin-turbocharged V8 producing 402bhp which powers the cross-over coupe/SUV from 0-62mph in 5.4 seconds.

The X6 xDrive50i goes on sale in November costing £53,930 while the 6 Series Edition Sport models cost between £53,445 and £65,820 and are available now.

■ BMW M6 COMPETITION... styling and handling characteristics have been upgraded.

MOTORING

Tailgating incidents are up

MOTORISTS sticking to the speed limits are being bullied into going faster by tailgating by other drivers, a study has shown.

There has been a four-fold increase in tailgating incidents involving motorists trying to follow the rules of the road, the study for RBS Insurance by TRL (Transport Research Laboratory) found.

As many as 93 per cent of motorists under observation were tailgated by other road users when driving to Highway Code regulations, while just 47 per cent were tailgated when driving in their usual style.

The study also showed that 40 per cent of drivers following the Highway Code were either overtaken or undertaken by other motorists.

It was also found that drivers such as newly-qualified motorists and parents with small children who are likely to be most vulnerable to bullying behaviour on the road.

The study showed an increased use of the rear-view mirror and raised heart rates by these drivers when tailgated, suggesting that many drivers become stressed and emotionally upset as a result, which in turn can lead to an increased risk of accidents.

When asked about how they responded to annoying behaviour by other drivers, motorists' responses ranged from either direct aggression, such as car vandalism and confronting the other driver, to indirect aggressive acts such as cutting in, "brake testing", and indirect aggressive gestures.

One driver even admitted to carrying a baseball bat in his car in case another driver infuriated him.

Maggie Game, head of car insurance at Direct Line said: "Drivers need to understand that the increased stress caused as a result of tailgating can lead to volatile situations on the road and that tailgating is responsible for approximately 7 per cent of road traffic accidents in the UK."

"By driving less erratically, with fewer gear changes, rapid accelerations and decelerations, the average journey time is 8 per cent faster overall. So, improving driving habits could actually save time and money as well as lives."

MOTORING

Claim mpg figures can be misleading

CURRENT tests used by car makers to determine official fuel economy and CO2 emissions don't provide accurate information for buyers according to Channel 4's motoring website 4Car.

4Car carried out tests on eight cars and all failed to meet the official figures. Three cars were more than 10mpg short of the published rates.

The tests examined the VW Golf Bluemotion, Skoda Fabia Greenline, Mini Cooper D, Honda Civic Hybrid, Toyota Aygo, Ford Focus Econetic, Fiat 500 1.2, BMW 118d, all of which are regarded as economical models.

The Golf got closest to its official figures in the tests, achieving 57.5mpg, only 5.3mpg short of the 62.8mpg return in the government-approved tests. Ford's low-emission Focus, the Econetic, returned 54mpg in the 4Car tests – 11.6mpg less than the official figure.

The fuel tests also revealed that claimed CO2 emissions figures are unrealistic and that all the cars, which are currently in Road Tax B should fall into Band C.

The tests were carried out under strict conditions to achieve consistency. Unlike the official testing regime, 4Car's tests were conducted on the road to replicate "real world" driving in five different tests.

4Car editor Tim Bowdler said: "The official test is too simplistic to embrace all the vagaries of real-world operating conditions and it allows certain types of car to look good – too good in fact."

"The batch of cars that we tested all claim to have 'green' credentials, but they are not as environmentally friendly or as economical as we've been led to believe."

VW Golf Bluemotion	62.8mpg–119g/km	57.5mpg–130g/km
Toyota Aygo	61.4mpg–109g/km	54.5mpg–122g/km

Opportunity to View University's Cambridge Campus £40 million Redevelopment

Anglia Ruskin University is inviting the local community to view the plans for their Cambridge campus redevelopment.

An exhibition of the conceptual plans and images for the Cambridge campus will be open for the local community to view on Friday 5 September, 10am - 8pm. This event will take place in the University's Helmore building, which houses the main reception on East Road.

The aim of this development is to create an inspiring educational environment for school and college-leavers, university students, the local community and employers alike.

Anglia Ruskin University wants to maximise the potential of the existing buildings and spaces, as well as setting out a structured plan for new additions. The guiding principals, of the project, are flexibility, sustainability and the desire to reflect and reinforce the University's own unique sense of place and culture within Cambridge.

As part of a phased development programme a master plan has been developed for the campus which sees a two stage development creating state-of-the-art learning environments for a wide ranging curriculum.

The main body of the proposed phase 1 development will sit in the location of the existing Rackham Building with an element of extension to the University Library and Mumford Theatre as well as some new build to allow decanting to take place before Rackham can be demolished. There will be an extension to the existing library to house interactive learning zones linked to a central network with work stations allowing a flexible, wide ranging mix of use.

The new development will mark a significant step forward for Anglia Ruskin University.

To have your say, please come along to the public consultation event on Friday 5 September.

FOOTBALL

Rovers pitched out of FA Cup

■ Continued from Back Page. on 65 minutes, but his effort from an Abbott free kick crashed off the post, summing up Haverhill's season so far. Rovers boss Billings was left to rue the result, believing that his team should have finished the job at Hamlet Croft on Saturday. He said: "I think March raised their game at our place and we didn't get out of the starting blocks." The manager, who was getting his first taste of FA Cup football after taking the Rovers' helm during the close season will be disappointed that his charges failed to get their mind-set right for Tuesday's return. Billings must now aim to lift his side as they look to kick-start the campaign on Saturday when they travel to the Suffolk coast to take on a Kirkley & Pakefield side, who are yet to win in the Ridgeons League, Premier Division. The side from Lowestoft were beaten 2-1 by Cambridge Regional College on the opening day of the season and followed this up with a 1-0 reverse at Leiston. In addition, they also made their FA Cup exit with a 1-0 Extra Preliminary round defeat away to fellow Ridgeons League, Premier Division side Wroxham on Saturday. Rovers are also due to be in league action on Tuesday evening when Harwich & Parkeston will be the visitors to Hamlet Croft.

TENNIS

Read and Cannon fire Haverhill to success

HAVERHILL Tennis Club's B team gained a Norfolk and Suffolk League success over Bury Victory, thanks to a gritty performance by the scratch pairing of Stuart Read and Peter Cannon.

In the first rubbers, Haverhill's Ray Goddard and Jake Warner continued their good form winning both rubbers against the experienced Victory pairing of Mather and Mitchell.

Read and Cannon, who was playing his first match for the club, took a while to gel as a pair, dropping the first set 7-5 against the strong duo of Collins and Williams.

However, they came good in the second set, taking Haverhill into a 3-1 lead at the changeover.

Things looked bad for Haverhill as Goddard and Warner lost the first set against Collins and Williams and Read and Cannon trailed 0-3 then 1-4 then 2-5 against Mather and Mitchell.

However, the Haverhill pair dug in and won five games on the bounce to take the set 7-5.

With the match score at 4-2, captain Goddard and Warner could not come back against the Bury pair and left the match finely balanced at 4-3.

So it was left to Read and Cannon to clinch the victory in a hard-fought final set against Mather and Mitchell with Read showing the confidence he has gained as part of the victorious Haverhill A team in the Halstead League.

With new players like Cannon now available to play in the B team, captain Goddard can look forward to more success as his team start their campaign in the Haverhill and District Winter League.

In the Halstead and District League, the Haverhill mixed team failed to win their final match to clinch promotion, missing the class and experience of Marcia Armstrong and Lewie Hensby.

CRICKET ROUND-UP

Sam's century is all in vain

SAM Powell's century counted for nothing as Haverhill lost at home to Hadleigh by four wickets in their Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Two match on Saturday.

He scored exactly 100 and was backed up by Scott Webb (34) and Adam Dellar (32), while vice-captain Simon Youngs smashed an unbeaten 27 off 12 balls to steer the hosts to 243 for 6.

But, although Joe Woodley, Rob Sullivan and Powell claimed two victims apiece, Hadleigh made 244 for 6.

■ HORSEHEATH suffered a surprise defeat at home to Stapleford in their Cheffins CCA Senior League, Division One match on Saturday.

The visitors were 91 for 4 when Julian Small and Luke Barnes came together and they were still at the crease on 88 and 84 respectively when the visitors innings closed on 255 for 4.

Gary Ellis' hosts collapsed to 29 for 7, as Roy Malloes (4 for 47) and Steve Mann (3 for 20) did plenty of damage.

Jason Ketteridge gave Horseheath a glimmer of hope with an unbeaten 57, but Barnes (2 for 17) dealt with the tail and the home side were dismissed for 117.

■ WESTON COLVILLE held on for a draw when they entertained Khalsa from Peterborough in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts League on Saturday.

Batting first, the visitors reached 256 for 6, while the home side clung on for 217 for 8.

■ HITTING OUT . . . Simon Youngs, whose late blast was unable to boost Haverhill to a winning total.

FOOTBALL: FA CUP EXTRA PRELIMINARY ROUND ACTION

Larry's boys go out like lambs

■ CUP WOES . . . Haverhill Rovers' boss Larry Billings, whose team exited the FA Cup this week.

Haverhill's nightmare start to the season continued when they were knocked out of the FA Cup by March, going down 2-0 in the Extra Preliminary round replay at the GER Ground.

Rovers have lost both their opening two Ridgeons League, Premier Division fixtures 4-1 and are now out of the competition they have done so well in over the past two seasons.

Larry Billings' side just about scraped a replay with a 2-2 draw in the first tie at Hamlet Croft on Saturday when Joe Harvey popped up with a dramatic late equaliser to spare Haverhill's blushes.

The hosts went in front at home on 20 minutes when Craig Cutts got his head to a Tom Shearer corner to force the ball home.

However, the Hares levelled seven minutes into the second half through Luke Pepper, who converted from a one-on-one with Rovers' goalkeeper Eliot Pelling, and went ahead three minutes later thanks to Ash Brand's chip.

Rovers looked to be heading for the exit, but the equalising goal arrived five minutes into stoppage time when Harvey got a toe on a Marc Abbott free kick.

However, the Suffolk side's luck ran out in the replay on Tuesday night as they failed to hit the mark, while March scored twice to secure a preliminary round clash at Leiston on August 30.

The Hares took a 20th minute lead through Pepper, who controlled a Brand cross and rounded Pelling.

And the hosts wrapped up the tie with a second, eight minutes into the second half. This time Brand's brother Lawrie was involved. His shot was parried by Pelling, but only into the path of Dave Weston, who tucked the ball away.

Paul Stokes almost halved the deficit

GOLF

Haverhill miss out on final in a tight clash

Haverhill Golf Club's seniors' run in the Parks Trophy came to an end at Bury St Edmunds when they lost at the semi-final stage to Woodbridge. It was the furthest they had ever been in the competition and they only lost narrowly by three holes, despite winning three of the quartet of fourball, betterball games.

The club's team left at home fared better in their friendly match against Braintree as they reversed the away fixture winning by the same margin of the first meeting, five games to three. Earlier in the week, the return away match against Gosfield Lake was played and the new trophy that is to be contested by the two clubs ended up in the hands of Haverhill, as they triumphed 8½-7½.

Haverhill men entertained Towerlands (Braintree) to a fourball, betterball match, which resulted in victory for the home team by three matches to one.

■ The juniors of the Haverhill club continued their extremely active series of holiday competitions by competing for the D Quinney Trophy.

Nobody was able to get past the nett 60 that Jack Marsh returned – the closest being posted by runner-up Edward Baker (61).

Jamie Harris took the stableford section with 45 points, beating playing partner Ryan Edwards by two.

■ Haverhill ladies mid-week August LGU Medal saw Sue Carr take the Silver Division by seven shots, while Ann Thompson was the Bronze winner. Leading scores: S Carr 69, A Thompson 71, D Darbey, M Kendall 73, P Kennedy, L MacFarlane 76, D Walker 77, S Playle, J Condon 78, S Andrews, G Wheatley, L Fish 79, M Mercer 82, P Ratford 85.

■ The Ladies' Invitation event was played as a fourball, betterball stableford round. Jackie Condon and guest Bev Allan (Bury St Edmunds) were the winners with 38 points with the next two pairs finishing three points in arrears.

Taking second spot was Lyn Fish, accompanying Loma Bridge (Bourn), while Doreen Darbey and Wendy Wilderspin (Stowmarket) had to settle for third place.
